Dear Sir or Madam

You may already know about this one but in case not, there has always been a Seal Haul out on the rocks in Kildalloig Bay. The usual number is 8-10 animals. The seals also haul out on the Jetty on Davaar Island nearby and sometimes within Campbeltown Loch. Probably the same seals.

The seals are greatly appreciated by the local community and several local businesses including the hotels benefit from the seals as a wildlife attraction and would like to see them preserved.

These include our own business, Kintyre Cottages (www.kintyrecottages.com) - self catering holidays , and Mull of Kintyre Seatours (www.mull-of-kintyre.co.uk)- wild life watching trips by boat from Campbeltown harbour. Hotels that include the Ardshiel Hotel, Seafield Hotel and Craigard House Hotel, all of which have guests who come to see seals.

We would be grateful if you could add our local Seal Haulout to the list for protection.

Many thanks

Regards,

Mary Turner
