1. Introduction and key points

The purpose of this Statistics Release is to present national figures for care homes for adults in Scotland. All figures relate to 31 March 2009 and are provisional. As such they are subject to change. The final figures will be published in subsequent statistics bulletins. The information is derived from the Scottish Care Home Census.

Some of the information which used to be collected as part of the Scottish Care Home Census is now collected by the Care Commission. This information is not included in this publication. More details of this can be found in the background information section at the end of this statistics release. All figures in this release omit care homes that deregistered to become Housing Support services.

Chart 1: Places in Care Homes for Older People per 1,000 Population Aged 65+, March 2009

- At 31 March 2009 there were a total of 1,442 registered care homes providing 43,894 places to 38,240 residents.
- There were 963 care homes for older people as at 31 March 2009 compared to 1,059 at 31 March 2000.
- There were 38,843 registered places in care homes for older people. The number of places has increased by 2.2 per cent since March 2008 and decreased by 0.9 per cent from the March 2000 level.
- The number of care homes for adults with learning disabilities has decreased by 18.2 per cent since March 2000, from 380 to 311 as at March 2009.

In March 2009 there were 963 care homes for older people. Of these 177 (18.4 per cent) were run by a Local Authority or by the NHS, 641 (66.6 per cent) were privately owned and the remaining 145 (15.1 per cent) were in the voluntary sector. In total, there were 96 fewer homes for older people in March 2009 than in March 2000 (when there were 1,059 such homes) and 19 more than in March 2008.

The 38,843 registered places in March 2009 represents 45 places per 1,000 population and consists of 5,336 places (13.7 per cent) in the Local Authority/NHS sector, 29,211 places (75.2 per cent) in the private sector and 4,296 places (11.1 per cent) in the voluntary sector. Between March 2000 and March 2009 the total number of registered places had fallen by 335 (0.9 per cent). In the Local Authority/NHS sector there had been a decrease of 1,094 places (17 per cent) whilst in the private sector there has been an increase of 1,242 places (4.4 per cent). Finally, in the voluntary sector there has been a decrease of 483 places (a reduction of 10.1 per cent).

Annex Table 3 and Chart 1 show the number of places per 1,000 population aged 65+ for each local authority. East Dunbartonshire had 29 places per 1,000 population aged 65+, the fewest of all local authorities, whilst Inverclyde had the most at 64 places per 1,000 population aged 65+.

Between March 2000 and March 2009, the number of residents has fallen by 455 (1.3 per cent) from 34,433 to 33,978.

Table 2 shows the local authorities with the largest percentage increases and decreases in the number of registered places in care homes for older people, between March 2000 and March 2009. Annex Table 2 contains details of registered places for each census between these dates for all local authorities. The biggest percentage increase in registered places since March 2000 occurred in Clackmannanshire where the number of registered places has risen from 203 in March 2000 to 288 in March 2009 (a 41.9 per cent increase). Other local authorities to have experienced large increases in the percentage of registered places were the Inverclyde, Orkney Islands, and North Lanarkshire. The biggest percentage decrease in the number of registered places since March 2000 occurred in Stirling. Here there had been a 17.6 per cent decrease, a reduction of 137 places. Other local authorities to have experienced a large decrease were North Ayrshire, Scottish Borders and South Ayrshire.

On 31 March 2009 there were 40 care homes for physically disabled people providing 547 places and housing 489 residents.

Since March 2000 the number of care homes has increased from 39 to 46 in 2004-2006 before dropping back to 40 homes in March 2009. In the same period, the number of registered places has fallen from 823, a reduction of 276 places, and the number of residents has dropped from 723 to 489, down by 234. Of the 40 care homes for physically disabled people, the majority, 31 (or 77.5 per cent) were operated by voluntary organisations. These voluntary homes offered 466 places to residents (85.2 per cent of all places). Of the remaining 9 care homes 3 were operated by local authorities and 6 were in the private sector.

On 31 March 2009 there were 311 care homes for adults with learning disabilities. These homes offered a total of 2,857 places and had 2,448 residents.

205 (65.9 per cent) of the care homes in this client group and 1523 (53.3 per cent) of the registered places were in the voluntary sector whilst 69 care homes (22.2 per cent) were in the private sector and 37 (11.9 per cent) were run by local authorities. The average size of these care homes varied between sectors. There were, on average, 7.4 places in voluntary sector homes, 8.9 places in local authority homes and 14.5 places in privately operated care homes.

Since March 2000, the number of care homes has fallen by 69 from 380 in 2000 to the current level of 311 homes. There has been a corresponding drop in the number of places from 3,598 to 2,857. This is a reduction of 741 places (20.6 per cent). The number of residents in care homes for adults with learning disabilities has fallen by 847 from 3,295 in March 2000 to 2,448 in March 2009.

Care homes registered for other types of user can include homes for adults with acquired brain injuries, mothers and children, alcohol related problems, drugs related problems, AIDS/HIV and other vulnerable groups.

In March 2009 there were a total of 47 care homes for adults in other client groups. These homes offered a total of 595 places, an average of 12.7 places per home, and had 439 residents. The majority of the 47 homes (40 homes or 85.1 per cent of all homes) operated in the voluntary sector and these homes offered a total of 489 places. Of the remaining 7 care homes, 3 were run by local authorities and 4 were privately run. The local authority run homes offered a total of 42 places whilst the 4 private homes offered 64 places.

Since March 2000 the number of care homes in this client group has fallen by 20, from 67 to 47. This has coincided with a reduction of 328 places, from 923 to 595 and of 315 residents from 754 to 439.

7. Background Information on the Census of Care Home Establishments

The Scottish Care Home census is intended to cover all adult care home establishments that are registered with the Care Commission. The Care Commission is responsible for regulating a wide range of social services and was established under the Regulation of Care (Scotland) Act 2001.

This census was first issued in March 2003 and replaced two previous surveys. It combined the former 'Residential Care Home Census – R1' (run by the Scottish Government) and the 'Private Nursing Homes Census' (run by ISD Scotland). In March 2006 some of the data collection, relating mainly to care home places, was taken over by the Care Commission. Therefore, this publication excludes tables relating to places in single rooms, en-suite places and occupancy rates that have been published in statistics releases for previous censuses.

Figures showing the number and percentage of care home places in single rooms and the number and percentage of en-suite places in care homes are available from Audit Scotland. This data is shown as indicator 3 in the adult social work performance indicators at

<http://www.audit-scotland.gov.uk/performance/service/>

Care should be taken when interpreting the Audit Scotland data. The local authority split shows places that are funded by each local authority as opposed to places located in each authority as is the case in this statistics release.

The number of Care Homes which were operational at the March census was 1,442. Full or partial responses were received from 1,062 open care homes giving a response rate of approximately 73.6 per cent.

The figures in this statistics release have been grossed up to take account of non-response. The methodology adopted was based on carrying forward previous records available for the care home in question.

All figures in this release omit care homes that deregistered to become Housing Support services.

SCOTTISH GOVERNMENT STATISTICIAN GROUP

OUR AIM

To provide relevant and reliable information, analysis and advice that meet the needs of government, business and the people of Scotland.

OBJECTIVES

1. To produce statistics and analysis relevant to user needs by
  - Developing our understanding of customer requirements to ensure statistics are kept relevant and analysis is well targeted;
  - Developing the range of statistics and analysis we produce;
  - Where practicable improving timeliness;
  - Providing more statistics disaggregated by age, gender and ethnicity;
  - Developing more data for small areas through the Neighbourhood Statistics project;
  - Contributing to production of comparable statistics across the UK and internationally.
2. To ensure effective use of our statistics by
  - Contributing more directly to policy processes inside and where possible outside government;
  - Improving access to and presentation of data and analysis;
  - Improving the advice provided on statistics.
3. To work effectively with users and providers by
  - Maintaining arrangements to consult and involve users and providers;
  - Involving users and providers in planning developments in outputs and processes;
  - Minimising the burden on data providers through dropping or streamlining collections as appropriate, to ensure the benefits of the information justify the costs of collection.
4. To develop the quality of statistics by
  - Assuring and improving quality as an integral part of data collection and analysis and through regular reviews in line with National Statistics quality strategy;
  - Developing statistical methods, systems and classifications;
  - Working with the rest of the Government Statistical Service to develop joint approaches/solutions where appropriate.
5. To assure the integrity of statistics by
  - Maintaining and promoting integrity through implementation of the National Statistics Code of Practice and related protocols;
  - Safeguarding the confidentiality of data subjects.
6. To ensure the efficient and effective delivery of statistics products and services by
  - Making best use of all sources including administrative sources;
  - Working with other analysts to maximise the contribution of our own and other analysts' work;
  - Ensuring value for money;
  - Making best use of Information and Communications Technology;
  - Ensuring effective communication within the Statistician Group.
7. To develop our workforce and competences
  - Ensuring recruitment of staff with the necessary skills and potential;
  - Ensuring development of expertise amongst existing staff;
  - Promoting and upholding the standards of the statistics profession.

This is a National Statistics publication

"This is a National Statistics publication. It has been produced to high professional standards set out in the National Statistics Code of Practice Protocol - see www.statistics.gov.uk/about\_ns/cop/default.asp

These statistics undergo regular quality assurance reviews to ensure that they meet customer needs. They are produced free from any political interference."
